1. A biplane towing a sleeve target, which was fired at by several machine guns on the ground, was circling the ORANIENBURG (N 53/2 67) airfield on the afternoon of [REDACTED]. No other aircraft were in the air.

2. According to a local resident many men and women had been recently recruited for work at the airfield. The debris of the destroyed hangars were cleared and repair and improvement work on the runways was started. The airfield was apparently to be expanded to the south.

3. Comment:

The mentioned construction work confirms information of May 1949 according to which at least one of the available runways is being extended.
